FOREWORD

How many times have we heard the old cliche, "Nothing is constant but change itself"? Indeed, the world around us is constantly being modified, often at a frightening pace. And yet, we find that we too are not the same today as we were yesterday or as we will be tomorrow. The external world grows and stretches and expands and we find that we too must be transformed in order to take our proper place in this world. Change is inevitable—it is imperative and quite beyond our control. The old will always yield to the new, the present will always step aside for the future. It can be an atmosphere of constant frustration and deep confusion, but at the same time it can be one of quite solemnity if we learn how to reach within ourselves and develop our as yet unrecognized abilities. Change does not connote progress, for change merely indicates a different situation, where progress refers to an improved state. The distinction is an important one—yes, even vital, for if we are content to live a life of mere change we will find ourselves merely existing rather than living and we will miss the joy and richness of life. The transition from high school to college is a remarkable step, as we are constantly reminded, for it is here in college that we first come to grips with life as it really is. It is here that we must learn to grapple with this alarming struggle we call life—it is here that we must come to comprehend what will be demanded of us and what our faculties are for meeting these demands.

The school year 1963-64 is one of great change at Maryville College. Many obvious, physical changes have been made to existing facilities and plans have been inaugurated for many others. As well, we know that numerous, intrinsic adjustments have come about within our own beings. Will all these changes evolve into progress, in a moving forward? Only we can answer that question for only we can affect this change. That is why we are here.

"These are the times that try men's souls ...."

"I just want to warn you, now ...."

Maryville College, 1963-1964: in a brief nine months we experienced all that we had anticipated, plus much that we had not expected, much that we had not desired. We grew and changed and progressed, yet in many ways remained the same.

"Holden Caulfield????"

This was the year we learned of the liberal cut system here at Maryville . . . and the year the student body vice-president didn't resign.

"No, no! Anything but the pond!"

"The abortive WHAT?"

Happiness is a piece of chicken wire and an idea for a float.

We were satisfied and unquestioning; we were cynical and bitter. We waited for realization, for a moment of truth. For many, that realization came—to some a realization of goodness and mercy, to others a realization of hatred and injustice.

We often asked, "Why...?" We said, "I don't understand." And—frequently—we said, "I can't believe it."

Maryville Ski Lodge—raided and closed the first night.

"Hustle, Hutch!"

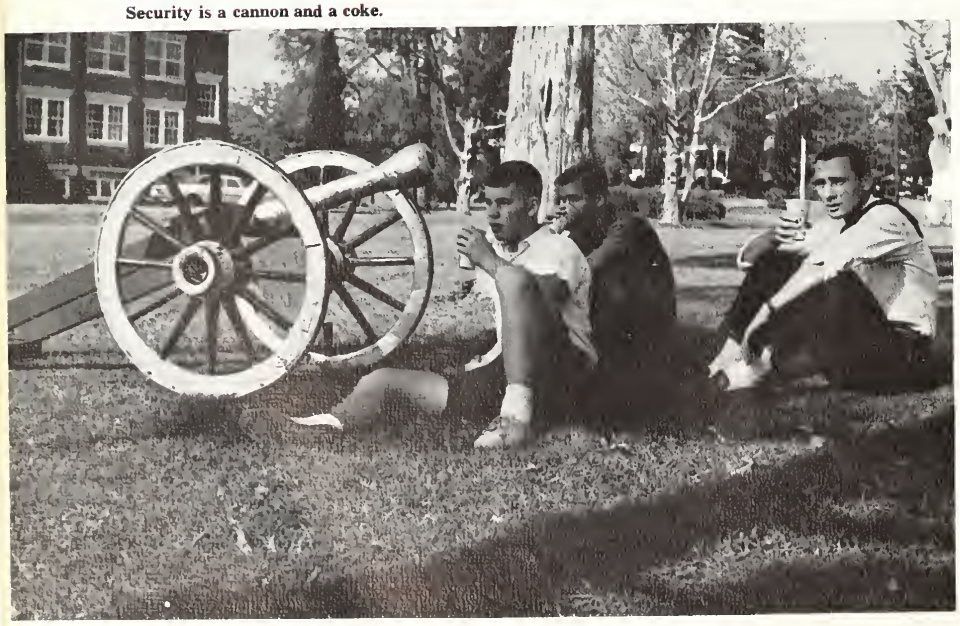
"Where have all the pledges gone?"

Filter-tip ballpoint, even . . . .

A soccer victory for Homecoming.

Security is a cannon and a coke.



We won, and we lost, and we cared a little more than just how we played the game.

We achieved, and we reached goals. We came to a standstill, facing a wall of ignorance and misunderstanding and indifference.

You won't believe it, but I'm in a Barnwarming skit!

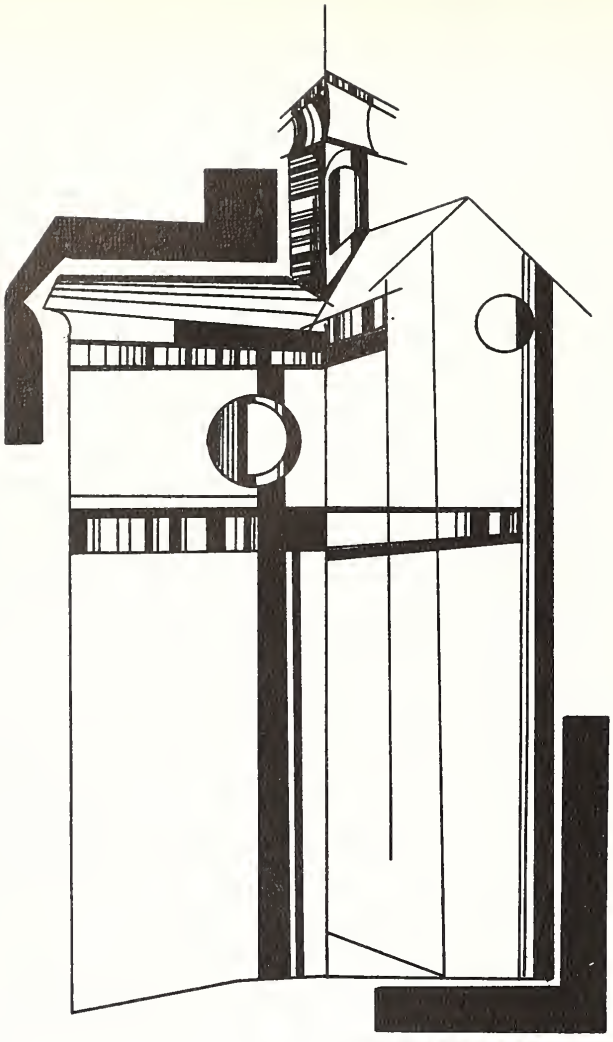
Our "Most Valuable" Ken.

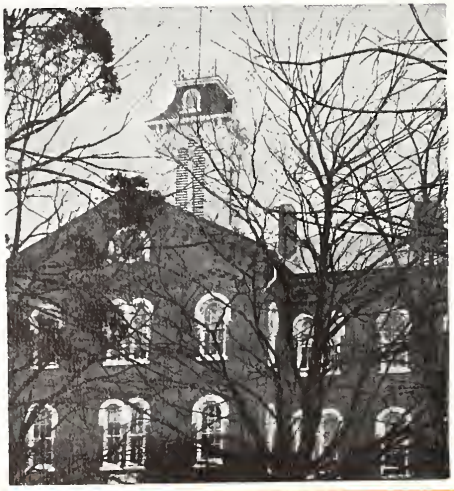
"Dave, I wouldn't leave my car there."

The end of a perfect day.

We saw our campus swept by a wave of shocked disbelief, and in the aftermath of the tragedy we felt ourselves drawn closer together.

We lived and loved and laughed and learned, from September to June; and now we look back and remember ...





FACULTY AND ADMINISTRATION

JOSEPH J. COPELAND
President of Maryville College

The President

Dr. and Mrs. Copeland chat with Dr. Campbell during an open house at Morningside.

An orange and garnet striped tie, a smile, a willingness to listen to students' ideas, a helpful attitude toward all, a sincere concern for those who seek his help, a pleasantness and naturalness to all with whom he comes in contact: this is Joseph J. Copeland, one whom we are proud to claim as our college president.

In the past three years Dr. Copeland has proved his deep, heartfelt concern for Maryville College. We could ask for no finer qualities in our leader and friend, for he has proved to us in every way that our interests are his interests and our happiness is a big part of his job.

As students we offer him our thanks and hope that the years to come will be spent in the same happy togetherness as the past ones.

The Deans

Dean of the College

Maryville College owes a great deal of respect and gratitude to Dean McClelland for his dedication to the college and for his striving towards academic excellence. His job is often a thankless one; yet, whether he is reading announcements in chapel, carrying out his administrative duties, or standing before a classroom, his interest in the students' welfare is always evident.

In Dean Massey we find a woman of unusual warmth and understanding. She is always ready to hear a question, a problem, or a complaint; she never fails to give us a clearer view of our goals. Miss Massey is a capable counselor who has earned a place of trust among the students at Maryville.

As a teacher and as an administrator, Dean Bushing communicates to us his love of learning and his eagerness to help us in all phases of campus life. Mr. Bushing's keen intellect is seasoned with a sensitivity and good humor which makes any day brighter for those who come in contact with him.

"Make Maryville Move" was the theme of Council's activities this year; to this end, there were several notable successes. Student concern for speedy completion of the proposed new Student Center was translated into action, as a one-week fund drive netted $1,000. Football received new emphasis, with the creation of "Player-of-the-Week" awards and a trophy for the outstanding player of the year.

Less well-known, but equally important, was the week-by-week work of the standing committees. Among these, the Car Committee, continuing its efforts to bring student automobiles to the Maryville campus, attracted the most attention; however, all functioned smoothly to make the 1963-64 Student Council an effective one.

Through their continued joint program of worship, service, and fellowship the YWCA and YMCA attempt to meet the needs of the college student and the community in a beneficial way.

Guided by presidents Margaret Dozier and John Spangler, the "Y" commissions (Programs, Human Relations, Campus Life, Community Service, Church Vocations, and Fellowship) have promoted a program vital to the campus and community. This year, with a more realistic emphasis on fellowship, the YM-YW has tried to incorporate more of the total campus life within its witness in order to become a more effective instrument in the life of the student.

With a round of activities, beginning early in the school year and highlighted by such events as "Y" Welcome, "Y" Hikes, Barnwarming, "Y" Retreat, as well as weekly programs related to student interests, the "Y's" seek to involve every student in a relationship with the "Living Christ" and thus complement their witness on the campus. The "Y's" have dedicated part of their time to a thorough examination of new structures through which the Christian life on campus might be strengthened. Thus in dedication to Christ, the "Y's" move forward, seeking new areas of witness and means of worship.

Part of the surge of interest and activity in the Y this year can be attributed to a good start. Vice-President Rich Boyd and the Ten Key Men provided much imagination and hard work to get things going. First was the Big-Little Brother program of letters to freshmen in the summer. The Key Men filled freshman week with social and devotional activities to help acquaint new students with college and with Y. Then followed a highly successful membership drive.

Wherever the Y was found, there were the Key Men, adding their flair for doing things really well. From setting up chairs for Y meetings, to creating a dragon for the Homecoming parade, Rich and the Ten Key Men helped make the Y a significant part of campus life.

Key Men

Two Greek letters, Nu Gamma, standing for the first letters of the words new girl, form the name of the organization within the Y that is responsible for welcoming new women students—both freshmen and transfers—and integrating them into campus life. Each Nu Gamma leader is assigned a number of girls to whom she writes during the summer. During freshman week, Nu Gamma leaders work closely with the Ten Key Men on various welcoming activities. Throughout the year, as holidays roll around, Nu Gamma girls receive favors from their respective leaders. In addition to the above, Nu Gamma leaders are always armed with advice about the numerous problems which can arise in adjusting to life at Maryville College.

Acting as the governing body responsible for all matters pertaining to resident women is the primary function of the Women's Student Government Association. With the Honor Dormitory system as the basis for its program of self-government, W.S.G.A. works to provide a dormitory atmosphere of consideration and responsibility. In addition, W.S.G.A. often joins with M.S.C. in sponsoring social activities on campus.

The Coordinating Council, made up of ten elected members, is the administrative body of the organization. Donning a new attitude along with their new uniforms, the council is considering membership in the Intercollegiate Association of Women Students, having observed at their regional convention in March, and has undertaken a thorough evaluation of our philosophy of women's student government.

Men's Student Cooperative

The Men's Student Cooperative is a department of student government which seeks to maintain unity and regulation among all men living on campus. Its purpose is the establishment and maintenance of orderly dormitory life and the promotion of good will and mutual concern within the group.

The M.S.C. Council consists of seventeen men elected to represent those living in the two resident halls. This council serves as an active voice for all men, reviewing ideas and suggestions and encouraging cordial relationships with the administration. Several social functions this year were jointly sponsored by M.S.C. and W.S.G.A., including a victory dance following the Georgetown football game, Artist Series Coffees, and several open houses.

"Now, I know you're all busy with other things, but. . . ."

What is a CHILHOWEAN? A meeting Tuesday night at seven o'clock in Bartlett—downstairs, of course . . . an editor, Dave King, and a business manager, Will Mitchell . . . a staff who can't agree on a color for the cover . . . a publisher who shows up on Wednesday and says he wants twenty-three pages in his office on Friday . . . a stack of pictures with no copy, and a stack of copy with no pictures. . . . Yes, all these things are a CHILHOWEAN, but there's something more. What is it? For lack of originality, you might call it the spirit of Maryville, captured in the pages of a yearbook for you, and those who have gone before you, and those who will follow you.

First come ideas; then assignments are given. Next the necessary leg work is done and the articles are written. After the articles are proofread, layouts are labored over. Several trips to the printers, a sigh of relief, a sense of accomplishment, and the Highland Echo is again on the streets for the edification and enjoyment of Maryville College. But all these things don't just happen. Students create a paper—students with initiative, originality, responsibility. Such students, working hard, working well, make the Echo what it is: a paper actively representative of all phases of campus life.

Chi Beta

Chi Beta's year began by an enthusiastic participation with Kappa Phi in Rush Week. Working with a theme of "Hollywood Premiere," the brother-sister societies entertained the freshmen at a buffet dinner ending in a typical premiere arrival of the officers.

Later, such activities as a Hootenanny and a fashion show gave the weekly meetings spirit and excitement. To promote more unification with Phi, Chi Beta voted overwhelmingly to change their colors from green and white to maroon and white. They sponsored both a Sadie Hawkins Night and a WLYP (We Love You Phi) party at the weekly gathering in the Phi House. Intramurals saw a spirited competition with Theta for the sports trophy. Working hard all first semester, the pledges combined with the old members to make the Chi Beta-Kappa Phi-sponsored "Winter Spectacular," held in the M.C. Ski Lodge, a huge success. Other activities planned during the year, including a joint party at semester break, gave further opportunity for fun and friendship within the society and with Kappa Phi.

Kappa Phi

The men of Kappa Phi began the year by joining with Chi Beta to present an outstanding Rush Week program, which interested many new students in the society. After viewing the show, enjoying a fine meal, and seeing the other campus decorations put up by Kappa Phi and Chi Beta, these students were welcomed as pledges. Throughout the year Kappa Phi was very active in the intramural sports program and participated with Chi Beta in a card section for football games. Speakers, sports, and skits highlighted the weekly meetings of the group. The members of the society worked hard on their Homecoming float, "Roll 'Em Under." Kappa Phi provides an opportunity for its members to join in discussion and recreation with each other and to form lasting friendships. Kappa Phi joined Chi Beta in sponsoring a steak barbecue at Lynwood Lodge in the Smokies, a ski party at the Gatlinburg Ski Lodge, "Winter Spectacular," the beautiful winter formal, and many other activities throughout the year.

Theta Epsilon

Theta Epsilon began the 1963-64 year with traditional Theta spirit and enthusiasm. With new blazers for the members and new curtains for the Sig House, Theta joined Alpha Sigma for a successful Rush Week. The numerous pledges enthusiastically prepared for Homecoming and were rewarded by a second-place Sig-Theta float and the crowning of a senior Theta, Ruth McDade, as Homecoming Queen. Along with weekly meetings and inter-society sports, Theta and Sig held occasional informal parties and a fall retreat at Laurel Lake. The pledge show and the Christmas party brought first semester to an end. Second semester again saw meetings and sports under able leadership. The election of Sig Superlatives, more parties, and plans for Skit Night kept the Thetas busy. The highlight of the year was the all-campus Spring Formal, sponsored jointly by Theta and Sig.

Alpha Sigma

A good slate of officers and strong support from the returning members, along with a spirited pledge class, made 1963-1964 a year of change for Alpha Sigma. With the help of Theta Epsilon, the Sigs produced a spectacular rush show entitled, "Spring Vacation—Fort Lauderdale." The spirit built up during rush week continued until Homecoming, when Theta and Sig came up with a second-place float, "Chew 'Em Up, Scots." All this hard work was rewarded with a pizza party for both societies and, later, with a retreat to Laurel Lake. Intermingled with these activities were a successful intramural program and many informal parties in the Sig House, the New Dorm, and the Intramural Gym. The year was one of fine spirit and good fellowship which was manifested by the many pledges who were proud to call themselves "Sigs."

Pi Kappa Delta Debate Team

Under the direction of Mrs. Naomi Lynn, serving her first year as debate coach, the debate team enjoyed a relatively successful season. Mrs. Lynn proved through her help and inspiration to be an able successor to the former coach, Dr. Arda S. Walker. Debating on the national topic, which was concerned with the question of the federal government's guarantee of an opportunity for higher education to all qualified high school graduates, the team attended tournaments held in several states, including Georgia, North Carolina, and Florida. Spring saw the recognition of the members of the team who qualified for the national forensic honor society, Pi Kappa Delta.

Though the debaters spend many precious hours in gathering information, preparing arguments, packing suitcases, and traveling to tournaments, and though they often feel that their lives are ruled by boxes of note cards, there is certainly no question as to the merit of debate. The debate team is undoubtedly one of the most valuable organizations to be found at Maryville, and its activities are followed with interest by the student body and faculty.

Circle K Club

The Circle K Club is a service organization with national affiliation. Its purposes and objectives are patterned after and closely parallel those of Kiwanis International. The local club is sponsored jointly by the Kiwanis Clubs of Maryville and Alcoa.

Membership in the club is highly selective and is restricted to those men who recognize a definite obligation to the campus and surrounding community and who are able to maintain a stipulated academic average. Although in only its third year of existence on the Maryville campus, our club is recognized both locally and throughout the Kentucky-Tennessee area as one of the top clubs of its type. The 1963 District Convention in Knoxville saw the Maryville club gain recognition for both its singular activities and its total program for the year, the smallest club in the area to gain recognition.

Tau Kappa Chi

The Greek letters Tau Kappa Chi, signifying that "the beautiful is difficult," stand for an honary organization for students who are studying applied music or are music majors. The purpose of Tau Kappa Chi is to promote excellence in musicianship and to further interest in all types of music. Both an average of 3.0 for two consecutive semesters and nomination by the music faculty for excellence in musical performance are required for membership.

College Choir

The College Choir, under the direction of Dr. Harry H. Harter, means so much to Maryville College that the feeling is hard to express in a few paragraphs. Each Sunday we are thrilled and impressed with the professional skill and beauty of the work of the choir. The hard work required of the choir members is legend, but the excitement and outright fun of choir cannot be missed—especially when the choir assumes its Christmas tree formation dressed in various shades of red and green for chapel.

Besides the weekly Sunday Vespers, the choir attempts to look wide awake while leading each morning's chapel music. In the fall, the choir presented a Mozart vesper service to a full chapel. Christmas Vespers this year, called Nine Lessons and Carols, was a combined effort of the College Choir, Women's Choir, and Men's Glee Club.

The choir members look forward expectantly to the spring choir tour; this year it circled through West Tennessee, Kentucky, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and back home. The tour was preceded by participation in the dedication events of the St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, the choir singing Mr. James Bloy's Mass for Pentecost. The choir also appeared for the first time with the Maryville Band in their spring concert. At the choir's home concert, each of us knew again the pride which our choir inspires in us.

It takes many long hours of practice to make such an excellent choir.

Men's Glee Club

This year at the formal initiation of new members of the Men's Glee Club, the president, James Shannon, asked that each of them, along with the old members, take as their goal the improvement of the quality of both secular and religious music on our campus. To this end, the Glee Club has performed in various capacities, for the most part in conjunction with the Women's Choir. Under the direction of Mr. Dan H. Kinsinger, they have sung at vespers each month, in The Messiah, and at the special Christmas Vespers. Many of the members took part in the fall production of the musical Kiss Me, Kate. Their major performance of the year was the Spring Serenade, featuring both solo and group numbers. Through renewed enthusiasm, careful selection of music, and a striving for quality, the Men's Glee Club has provided a year of what they hope has been the best in music.

Under the direction of their beloved Mr. K—Mr. Dan H. Kinsinger—and the leadership of their president, Miss Nancy Pierce, the Women's Choir has participated in a number of the regular vesper services. the special Christmas Vespers, the Messiah Chorus, and, in combination with the Men's Glee Club, their Spring Serenade. Many of the women joined to form the central chorus for the Playhouse production of Kiss Me, Kate in the fall. Because they enjoy singing, the women find the work of rehearsals as well as the accomplishment of performances inspiring and enjoyable.

In addition to singing, the Women's Choir has joined with the Glee Club for a number of social events—the initiation picnic, parties, sponsorship of the popular all-campus Jean's Drag in the spring, and the traditional spring outing and picnic. All in all, it has been a grand year—a grand year for singing!

College Band

The Highlander Concert Band presents its Winter Concert.

Highlighting the Highlander band performances this year were the flashy twirling routines of our majorettes. Led by Head Majorette Jane Dodez, they performed at all half-times, at pep rallies, and at parades. For the Homecoming game, all lights were extinguished as the majorettes twirled fire batons to the strains of "I Love Paris." As a finale, they executed a colorful can-can number that concluded with staggered leaps and splits.

Diane Helsley, Jan Rickards, Jane Dodez, Head Majorette; Sara Singleton, Carolyn Foust.

Under the direction of Mr. John A. Roberts, the Highlander Marching Band again provided entertainment and enthusiasm for the student body during the football season. However, something new has been added. Though the female members of the band remain clothed in the traditional kilts, the male members have adopted a Scottish guard uniform, with a red coat and black trousers. The men were forced to march bareheaded for a while, but their tall fur hats finally arrived to complete the new look.

Since there was no particular theme for Homecoming this year, the band advertised the fall musical, Kiss Me, Kate, by playing theme songs from many of the musicals that have been presented in past years at Maryville. The marching season ended with a tribute to Paris, including such familiar numbers as "An American in Paris" and "I Love Paris." Once again the band left the golf course, hung up their uniforms, and started practicing for the first program of the concert season. This year the proceeds from their concerts helped to pay for their new uniforms.

The Maryville College-Community Orchestra is an impressive-sounding name for an impressive-sounding group of musicians. Staffed by students and people from town, the orchestra tries to project its interest in classical and light classical music to its many listeners. The orchestra presents two concerts each year and in recent years has given special performances for the school children of the Maryville-Alcoa area.

The musical year for the orchestra began quite early as they opened their sessions by playing in the pit for the fall production of Kiss Me, Kate. Relaxing only long enough to change reeds and rosin bows, the musicians began work on the traditional presentation of Handel's Messiah. The relaxed manner and the enthusiasm of the director, Mr. John Roberts, is projected throughout the whole organization and manifests itself in some truly beautiful music.

The Blue Shades

The ΑΣ Blue Shades, Sig's own rock 'n roll band, was originally organized in March of 1963, but after transfers and replacements, they presently consist of George Derbyshire, commonly known as Derby, from Colora, Maryland; Hugh McCampbell, or Huther, from Knoxville, Tennessee; Bob "Bo" Hedges, from Madison, New Jersey; and Joe Rule, from UT, who lives in Maryville. Their first appearance this school year was at the Student Council Mixer during Freshman Week, and during the course of the year they have added several football dances, the four-society Christmas party, and numerous ΑΣ-ΘΕ activities to their list of appearances. In the spring of 1963 they played for the Everett High School Senior Prom, and this year they have several off-campus engagements scheduled. Although they are called the ΑΣ Blue Shades, they are glad to play for other organizations and functions, as evidenced by the list of previous appearances above.

The Dan Rineer Quintet

The Dan Rineer Quintet was officially organized at the beginning of the first semester, 1963. However, they had played as a dance band for more than a year. Through weekly practices they keep in tune for engagements such as Homecoming, after-game dances, and inter-society parties. During the spring the quintet furnished entertainment for organizations in the Maryville-Knoxville area. The group, consisting of trumpet, saxaphone, bass, piano, drums, and an experienced guitar, has been an enjoyable addition to our college family.

B. G. Club

Did you ever have the feeling that several strange creatures with dice for wings had suddenly invaded the campus? Probably so, each fall when the B. G. Club has its initiation. Huge green dice are a part of the costume, plus green and white attire and eight large freckles on each cheek. What does this group of eight girls do? Its avowed purpose is fellowship. What does B. G. mean? Only the eight know.

Porky and Simple Seven

What wears red vests, black bow ties, derby hats, and makes more noise than almost any other organization on campus—musical or otherwise? You guessed it—Porky and the Simple Seven, eight of the most enthusiastic music-makers going. Organized several years ago by a band member now reverently spoken of as "The Original Porky," the boys have assumed the responsibility of being the school's chief pep-raisers. You're likely to find the Porkies anywhere—Pearsons' balcony, playing for the football game at Guilford, cheering from the stands at a basketball game, or giving a special performance in the theater—anywhere school spirit needs a shot in the arm.

HOMECOMING 1963—A Weekend of Tradition

Queen Ruth is attended by Misses Mary Ellen Pettigrew, Nancy Haley, Phyllis Deloteous, and Roberta Bryson, who is not visible on the other side of the float.

Homecoming, 1963—a weekend of victories that will be remembered by many in the years to come. A warm bonfire and even warmer pep rally began the weekend in spirited fashion, following the Second Annual Homecoming Banquet Friday night.

The soccer team proved victorious the next afternoon, overcoming Oglethorpe College by a score of 7-0. The football team continued the stream of victory Saturday night by swamping the Guilford Quakers, 28-0. Halftime saw lovely Ruth McDade, attended by Roberta Bryson, Phyllis Deloteus, Nancy Haley, and Mary Ellen Pettigrew, crowned Homecoming Queen for 1963. The anxiously awaited halftime announcement of the outcome of the float competition revealed that the class of 1965 was victorious again, as their float, "Scotties: Make the Welkin Ring," took first place. This class holds the distinctive position of having been first place winners for two years in a row.

The dance after the game was the crowning touch to a perfect weekend—a weekend of victories that will be remembered by many in the years to come.

The class of 1965 won the float contest for the second year in a row with their entry, "Make the Welkin Ring."

Barnwarming

This year Barnwarming moved out of the theatre back into the barn. On Thanksgiving night, the Alumni Gym took on an old-fashioned atmosphere complete with cider and doughnuts, apple bobbing, and a make-shift hayloft to provide seating space for the audience. Booths sponsored by the societies, the classes, and the Y, and ranging from hayrides to a Maryville College believe-it-or-not display, offered pre-show entertainment for all spectators. The show itself was an array of talent from townspeople and from our students and reached its climax in a skit presented by the faculty—an entertaining production of the Mikado by members of the staff and faculty who could no longer keep their talent hidden.

Lecture Series

Dr. John H. Fisher

Dr. George F. Macleod

Mr. Harrison Salisbury

Three outstanding speakers comprised the 1963-64 Lecture Series. In November, Dr. John H. Fisher, a distinguished alumnus of Maryville College and Professor of English in the Graduate School of New York University, presented an informative lecture as to why American schools frequently fail to provide students with fundamental reading skills. The second lecture, in February, brought to our campus Dr. George F. Macleod, founder and leader of the Iona Community in Scotland. The Iona Community is a Presbyterian brotherhood of ministers and craftsmen who have undertaken the restoration of the ruined Abbey of Iona, regarded as the cradle of Scotland's Christianity. Dr. Macleod spoke on the Iona Community's historical significance and influence upon contemporary Christianity. In April, Harrison Salisbury, former Moscow correspondent for the New York Times, concluded the 1963-64 Lecture Series with a thought-provoking lecture on the inevitable conflict between Russia and China and its effect upon the Free World.

Fred Hope Fund

Dr. and Mrs. David Stanley and their family.

The emphasis of the Fred Hope Fund was broadened this year. Upon the request of the student body, the money was split between a local and a foreign missions project. One-third of the amount collected went to provide a scholarship to Maryville for a worthy Negro student. The remaining two-thirds went to the aid of a family going to southern Laos to open a hospital. This family is the David Stanleys of Maryville, and they are working under the auspices of the Tom Dooley Foundation. Thus through our traditional Fred Hope Fund, we had an opportunity to express a concern for human beings both locally and in other areas of the world.

Christmas

Janet Purcilla reads for the Christmas Readings.

The 1963 Christmas season at Maryville was officially opened by the presentation of Handel's Messiah on the afternoon of Sunday, December 8, and by the traditional Christmas Readings and caroling which followed in the evening. However, the real Christmas spirit had been prevalent before this official opening, with the many Christmas decorations around campus and the excitement and anticipation of the fast-approaching vacation. Informal parties, topped by the big four-society Christmas party on Saturday night, December 14, heightened the holiday spirit, as did the inspiring Christmas vespers on the evening of Sunday, December 15. The carol serenade by the Sigs on the night before vacation brought the 1963 Christmas season at Maryville to an effective close.

Handel's Messiah

On Sunday afternoon, December 8, 1963, after nine weekly rehearsals, the thirty-first annual presentation of Handel's Messiah was given in the Samuel Tyndale Wilson Chapel. The 280-voice chorus, composed of college students, faculty, and townspeople, was accompanied by the College-Community Orchestra. Dr. Harry H. Harter conducted the presentation, with Mr. James Bloy at the organ, Mrs. Sally Schoen at the harpsichord, Mrs. Linda Perry at the piano, and Mr. Jon Gresham playing the trumpet solo. Again this year, the presentation of the Messiah was an important and inspirational part of the Christmas season at Maryville College.

February Meetings

DR. LEWIS BRINER

DR. ARNOLD NAKAJIMA

February Meetings this year were under dual control for the first time: Dr. Lew Briner, Dean of the Chapel at McCormick Theological Seminary, and Dr. Arnold Nakijima, member of the staff of the Board of Christian Education of the United Presbyterian Church shared the leadership position for the 88th annual meetings. Because of the success of last year's counselors in the individual dormitories, a second group, including Mrs. Louise Orr, Ed Payne Miller, David Mair, and Dale Watson, also effectively participated in this year's program. The music was directed by our own Dr. Harry Harter and other members of the faculty.

The evening programs included more group discussions with both the speakers and the counselors open for questions and answers. The counselors also worked directly with the students in the dormitories through personal interviews and "bull sessions." February Meetings, 1964, with a variety of leaders and an increased emphasis on student concerns, led to an enrichment and revitalization of spiritual life on our campus. The interest and enthusiasm shown by such a large part of the student body and faculty made this one of the most significant Christian events in many years.

Artist Series

The Columbus Boychoir

This year's Artist Series opened in October with the United States Air Force Band. Appearing with the band were the Singing Sergeants, a vocal ensemble of members of the band. The program well illustrated the international reputation of the Air Force Band. December brought Brenda Lewis, widely acclaimed soprano. Well received on the Broadway stage, before the television camera, and at the Metropolitan Opera, Miss Lewis' performance at Maryville College demonstrated her versatility. The third attraction on the Artist Series calendar for this year was the Columbus Boychoir of Princeton, New Jersey. The accomplishments of this nationally famous group are too numerous to mention; it is sufficient to say that their performance in January made their extraordinary musical talent quite clear to the thrilled audience. The Alabama Quartet, Quartet-in-Residence at the University of Alabama, closed the Artist Series for this year. Returning to Maryville College for the third time, this talented group presented a program combining both modern and more traditional selections, a fitting climax to the Series.

Theatre Presentations

The Maryville College Theater opened an exciting year with the fall production of Kiss Me, Kate. Aided by the music department, the theater gave us a delightfully colorful and entertaining show. Turning to more serious endeavors, the theater next offered The Crucible, by Arthur Miller. With many implications for present-day society and for our Maryville College world, The Crucible is a dramatic story of the Salem witch trials. Audiences were stirred with deep emotion by this intensely moving play. The third play of the season was Ibsen's Hedda Gabler. Once again tragedy stirred the hearts of the audiences. Ending a successful season in the best possible way, the theater presented Teahouse of the August Moon. This comedy kept audiences visiting for commencement in gales of laughter throughout the performances. Once more, our theater proved itself an indispensible aspect of life at Maryville.

Art Activities

Art major Kathie Kirk works under Mr. Swenson's guidance in the Fine Arts Center.

The Maryville College Art Department opened its gallery season this year with paintings by Diana Law Russell, a new art student here. The second show of the year featured etchings and lithographs of such men as Picasso and Daumier, which were available to the public. Following this was a fascinating display of contemporary Japanese prints. An exhibit by the college art students was next. One of the outstanding events of the fall semester was a southwide contest held in Chattanooga, at which David Marx, a senior art major, took honors with his painting, "Fascination." The last show of the semester consisted of paintings by Merritt Kardatzke, a faculty wife, and photographs by Ralph Tucker, a junior English major.

The prints of Romas Viesulas, a Lithuanian artist who is presently teaching at Temple University, was the first spring show. The work of Miss Barbara Mueller, a faculty member of the art department, was featured next. Traditional showings of the work of senior art majors brought the year to a close.

SPORTS

Football

Optimistic is the word that best describes the gridiron prospects of the 1963 edition of the Maryville Scots as the first game of the season approached. Indeed, with both the backfield and the line well staffed with eighteen lettermen, there was little reason for pessimism. The Scots and Mars Hill met in the opening game, and the optimistic forecasts seemed well justified as the Highlanders rolled to a 14-0 victory. The Scots followed up their initial success by setting back Centre College 20-7 in the year's second contest. Local fans were beginning to be impressed with the prowess of the Scots. They made Georgetown College their next victim, felling them by a score of 13-12. The next weekend the Highlanders journeyed to Virginia to meet formidable Emory and Henry. The Virginia school ended Maryville's hopes for an undefeated season, turning back the Scots 13-6. Only a pass that was juggled and then dropped in the end zone in the last minute of play stood between Maryville and another victory. The following Saturday found the Scots on the campus of Hanover College. The Indiana school piled up a seemingly insurmountable 17-point lead in the first half. A brilliant comeback in the second half, however, enabled the Scots to overcome the deficit and defeat Hanover 19-17. Moving back to Honaker Field, the Highlanders swarmed over Guilford to register an impressive 28-0 victory in front of an enthusiastic Homecoming crowd. Next the Scots traveled to Jackson, Mississippi, to meet Millsaps College. Here they notched their sixth victory of the year by romping to a 22-0 decision. Another victory was added to the growing list of successes the next week as Guilford again fell before the powerful Maryville squad, 13-7. But the most important game of the season remained to be played. In the outstanding small college classic of the area, Carson-Newman and the Highlanders clashed in an action-packed struggle. Fighting back from deficits of 7-0 and 14-6, Maryville succeeded in tying the score 14-14 early in the final quarter. Then, with less than seven minutes left in the game, Benny Monroe booted a 20-yard field goal for what proved to be the decisive margin.

The 1963 season was one of the most successful in the history of Maryville College football teams. The record of eight victories and one defeat was the finest mark turned in by the Scots since 1946. The victory over rival Carson-Newman was the crowning touch for a season in which the Scots emerged as one of the outstanding small college teams in the area.

The Amos Alonzo Stagg Century of Physical Fitness Medal was introduced this year to the Maryville campus. This Medal was presented each week to the football player who was judged to have made the greatest contribution to the team effort in the previous week's game. The selection was made by a panel of three persons selected by the coaches.

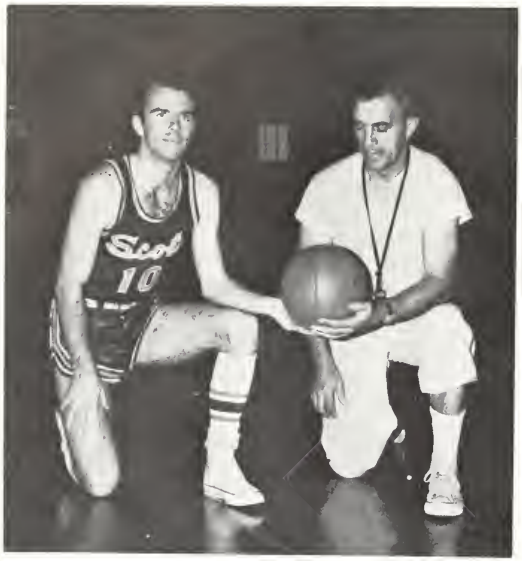
Basketball



Team Captain Kip Martin and Coach Boydson Baird.

The record of the basketball team was not one of the brightest spots in the 1963-1964 athletic picture at Maryville College. At the beginning of the season, the prospects seemed encouraging. Coach Boydson Baird had seven returning lettermen, including the entire starting team from the previous year. Heading the veterans were guard and team captain Kip Martin and Bert Randall, a former captain and high-scoring center. Bill Schellinger, "Bo" Henderson, Denny McGowan, Mike Moyers, and Mike Gregory completed the experienced members of the squad. In addition to these, Coach Baird was blessed with two outstanding freshmen prospects, guard Danny Radcliff and center Dave Alexander. Overall, the team had more experience, speed, and height than it has had in recent years.

Despite these fine elements, the team failed to develop and marched to an ignoble record, winning but two games. Nevertheless, they presented a spirited and interesting brand of basketball to those who attended the games. Speed and excitement were key words in the Scots' offensive system.

Wrestling

Of the intercollegiate sports that are offered at Maryville, the one that meets the sternest competition is the wrestling team. Under the management and direction of Coach John Davis, the grapplers encounter the strongest squads in the Southeastern section of the country. The major test of the team's prowess comes at the end of the season in the Southeastern Conference Tournament. In this tournament Maryville wrestles against such schools as Auburn, the University of Georgia, and the University of Alabama.

Heading the 1964 edition of the wrestling team was captain Joe Kucinski, a former runner-up in the 177-pound weight class of the SEC Tournament. He was backed by a core of returning lettermen that included Adam Deveney, Will Mitchell, Gene Dixon, Bill DeWeese, and Van Pallis. Gary Hall and Roy Ries were two freshmen who added considerable power to the team by way of their high school experience. Although the team was strong in the lighter weight classes, it lacked power in several of the heavier classifications. Nevertheless, Coach Davis was able to anticipate a fine showing in this year's SEC Tournament.

Track

The 1964 track team had the potential to be one of the strongest in recent years. Coach Tomlinson welcomed back a nucleus of seven lettermen. John Livingstone, after two years of apprenticeship, developed into a fine distance runner; Bert Randall, Denny McGowan, and Greg Hallen added experience to the field events; and sprinter Roland McClanahan and middle distance runner Hugh McCampbell returned to their specialties. However, if the squad had developed into a more formidable threat than it has been, it was due to an excellent crop of freshmen and transfer students. Chief among the newcomers was Dave Alexander, a former decathlon champion. High-jumper Dave Taylor and quarter-miler Jerry Bell were also strong and experienced additions. With a general increase of both depth and better opportunities for first-place finishes, an improvement over the 1963 record of 3 wins and 4 losses seemed in order.

Baseball

Bad weather forces Sonny Hughes and Dave West to move inside for practice.

The chances that the Highlander baseball team would be able to improve on their record of 8 wins and 7 losses were slight. Five important members from last year's team were missing, including two-thirds of the pitching staff. With a schedule that crowded several games into one week, the loss of pitching strength was acutely felt. Coach Baird had to rely on the strong right arm of Dave West for the majority of the mound work. Behind West was a veteran outfield, headed by Shortstop "Red" Prudhon. Catching was probably the Scots' strongest position, with veteran Sonny Hughes and freshman Roger Banks handling the duties behind the plate. On the whole, however, Coach Baird's only hopes were to fill adequately several spotty positions to move above the .500 mark.

Tennis

As the season opened, the prospects of the 1964 tennis team were unusually high. Coach Kardatzke welcomed back the entire squad that had posted a respectable record of five wins and four losses in the '63 season. The six lettermen—Tod Owers, Lynn Howard, Dave Marston, Rich Marshall, Bob Paul, and Dale Fischbach—made an effort to improve their record of last year. Their vast experience proved to be a major asset.

Two events highlighted the '64 schedule. The first of these was an extensive tour of Florida and Georgia that the team took during spring vacation. The trip, the first of its kind in the history of tennis at Maryville, pitted the Highlanders against such schools as Shorter College and Emory University. The second highlight of the season was the Tennessee Intercollegiate Athletic Conference Tournament. Traditionally the most important meet of the year, the Scots encountered the sternest competition that the colleges and universities of Tennessee have to offer. The Maryville netters were a leading contender for the honors, both in the TIAC and throughout the season.

Men's Intramurals

Participation and competition are the key words in the philosophy behind the men's intramural program.

The primary purpose of the intramural program is to offer an opportunity for the student to partake of the recreational aspect of college life. In hopes of providing a means for everyone to participate, a widely varied curriculum of sports is offered, including touch football, softball, wrestling, ping-pong, volleyball, and tennis.

The spirit of competition and degree of performance are both high in the intramural program. The contests between societies and the games with the town teams are marked with a fierce sense of pride and desire to win. Victory is achieved only through fortitude and team cooperation.

Under the direction of Coach Davis, the program also offers students an opportunity to participate in the administrative aspect of athletics. The officiating and the coaching of the individual teams are both done by students.

Women's Intramurals

Women's Intramurals are sponsored by the Women's Athletic Association and advised by Mrs. Davis. The purpose of the program is to provide recreation for campus women. Teams for each sport are sponsored by both Theta Epsilon and Chi Beta, although one need not be a member of a society to be a W. A. A. participant. The sports offered during the 1963-64 season included fencing, basketball, swimming, badminton, ping-pong, soccer, horseshoes, tennis, and softball.

W. A. A.

The major concern of the Women's Athletic Association, under the direction of Mrs. Davis, is to give every girl on campus an opportunity to participate in an athletic program, without regard to ability or social standing. The W.A.A. Council acts as the coordinating body between the members of W.A.A. and the Women's "M" Club. The Council, composed of two members from each society and the president and vice-president of "M" Club, discusses both athletic rules and the problems and suggestions presented by the girls.

Soccer

This year, the soccer team enjoyed the most sucessful season of its short history on the Maryville College campus. Under the direction of Dr. Young and Mr. Ainsworth, the team compiled a respectable record of three wins, two losses, and a tie.

The future promises to be bright for the Scots. Only two seniors, Bob Mullins and PeeWee Tongyai, will be lost through graduation. Co-captains Adam Deveney and Red Prudhon will head the returning delegation. With the promise of another successful season, the soccer team had hopes for other victories—perhaps a permanent coach and varsity recognition.

Cheerleaders

An organized cheering section at athletic events is one of the most important elements of school spirit. The students at Maryville, particularly those who participate in sports, owe much to our cheerleaders for the spirit evident during every season of the year. On Honaker Field, in the Alumni Gym, and even occasionally in chapel, their enthusiasm and excitement are contagious. Much of the success of our athletic teams this year can be traced to these eight, who have successfully fulfilled the responsibility placed on them at their election.

Women's "M" Club

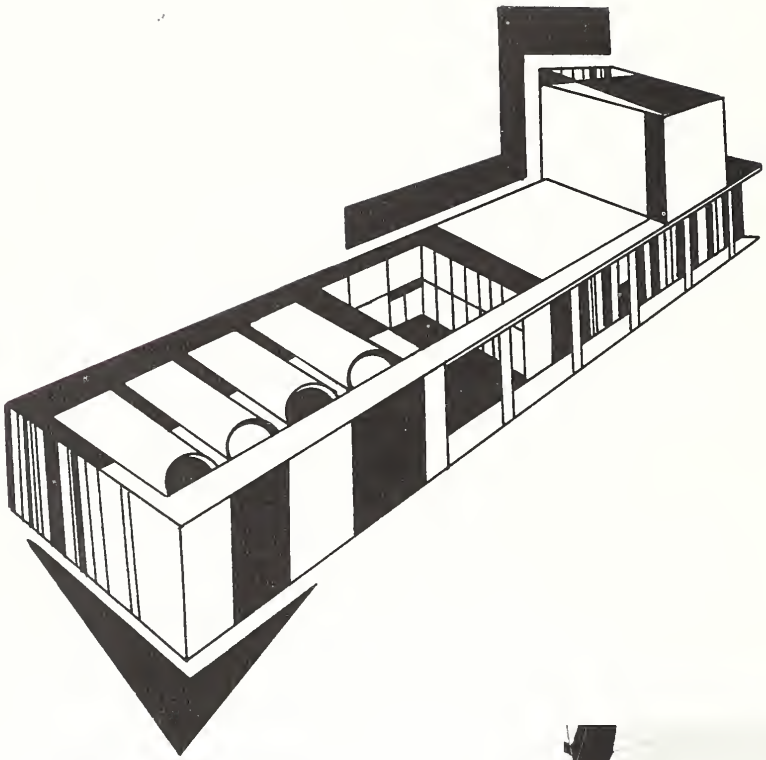
Women's "M" Club is composed of those girls who have earned a total of four hundred points through participation in the women's intramural program and in such sports as hiking and bicycle riding. It is the job of these girls to set up the women's athletic program and to provide an events manager for each athletic event of the year. Their hard work is rewarded by two retreats in the fall and spring of each year, along with other social events such as parties and dinners.



CLASSES

The Senior Class Officers

Senior Class Officers: Vice-President, Bill DeWeese; President, Bert Randall; Secretary-Treasurer, Ginna Coon.

The class of 1964 continued through this year with its policy of innovation and change. The seniors held an outdoor dance in honor of Miss Sue Quigg, the 1963 Band Sponsor, following the first football game, and an indoor picnic in the New Dorm before a later game. The class opened the Student Center Fund with a three hundred dollar donation, which served to stimulate giving by other organizations. As is a tradition, the senior class provided the Homecoming float for the queen and her court, but their float was a departure from the traditional idea of a throne, having instead a setting of clouds as a background for the lovely ladies. Also on Homecoming the class exhibited its famous scrapbook. The remainder of the first semester was donated mostly to Special Studies.

During the semester break the seniors sponsored a movie, and early in the second semester the class took its long-awaited trip to Oak Ridge. Other activities were a spring picnic, Games Night—which they originated last year—and a party to celebrate surviving comps.

Senior Chapel, Baccalaureate, Commencement—and both this year and all their years at Maryville were ended for the Class of 1964.

Football Co-captains Charlie Thomas and Wilbur Ramsey wave good-by as they head off on another victorious trip.

Overflowing with unity and spirit, the Class of 1965 lurched into the year with a gala picnic in the woods, closely followed by a football dance honoring the Highlander Marching Band and a pep rally skit with 38 juniors in a hearse. Ever striving for new records, the juniors became the first class in the history of Maryville to win the Homecoming float contest twice in a row, with a traditional theme, "Scotties Make the Welkin Ring." The class made a sizable donation—over three hundred dollars—to the Student Center Fund. A Christmas party and the Special Studies party for the seniors finished first semester.

A Sadie Hawkins dance, a Valentine party, and a movie highlighted the second semester, along with several service projects. A picnic and the Daisy Chain brought the year to a fitting close.

With much pleasure this junior class, the Class of 1965, presents the 1964 CHILHOWEAN to the students and faculty of Maryville College.

The sophomore clods returned this year determined to be different. "Sports Through the Ages," the theme of their pep rally, gave them a good start on this goal.

With October came a hundred dollar donation to the Student Center Fund and a new password — "No Sweat." It was with "No Sweat" and an enormous Greek statue that the active sophomores took third place in the Homecoming float contest.

November brought a most successful football dance, since after the victory over Carson-Newman the entire campus was in tune with the theme, "Fly Me to the Moon." A visit to the Coca-Cola plant and a movie closed the first semester for the clods.

An action-packed second semester found the sophomores busily engaged in snowball fights, water balloon fights, and a friendly fight with the freshmen at the traditional frosh-soph picnic in May—the final event of the Clods' busiest year.

After seeing orientation week pass, the Class of 1967 started organizing their year's work. Class officers, as well as Student Council representatives, were elected early in October. After a get-acquainted picnic in the College Woods, the class participated in the Homecoming parade with an excellent float, "Blast 'em Scots." A contribution of thirty dollars was made to the Student Center Fund.

The second semester brought a movie sponsored by the class and—of course — the freshman talent show. The year closed with the traditional picnic in cooperation with the sophomores.
